Scholastically, Socially, Athletically.

Spirit, Recognition Vital In Making A Name

Spirit, so intangible, so important, led the way for Gavit's making its name. GHS received recognition not only from without (other schools, community), but also from within through accomplishments in the realms of activities, academics and athletics.

It took on the externals of the traditional full-fledged high school, making its own traditions and by this very means individualizing and distinguishing itself in its third year.

Who was responsible? Partly it involved the inevitable process of growing up, reaching maturity, but the majority of it entailed complex combinations of patterns, all evolving from within Gladiators themselves.

Yes indeed, Gavit, through all its endeavors, proved itself, commanded recognition of its name. This year, more than ever, those symbolizing the name Gavit proved that in every way "We've got spirit."

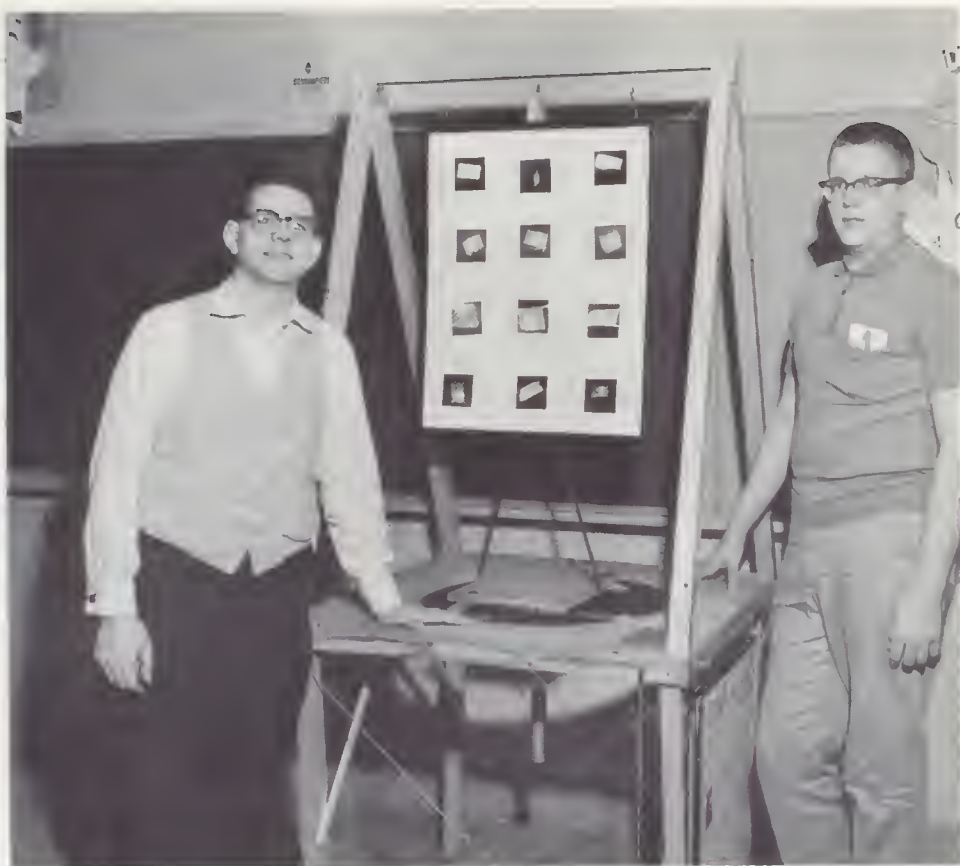

Gladiators cheer along with "We've got spirit."

GIRLS' STATE DELEGATES—Judi Martin, Lavonne Bebler, Beth Hanneld.

Sophomores Alan Hochman and Jim Werner exhibit the harmonograph which copped a second place award in their division at the annual Calumet Region Science Art Fair.

Individual Achievements Gain Recognition Needed

Juniors Sue Fasko and Anne Hansen display some of the art work which won Suzie the first prize, a scholarship to the six-week Ball State Teachers College summer art workshop, and Anne third place in the Lake County Council of Women's Clubs art contest.

Individual, as well as team, efforts were essential in the making of Gavitt's name. Various individual accomplishments reflected the talent and achievements needed to gain recognition and prestige for the school.

Lavonne Bebler, Beth Hanneld and Judi Martin were selected to serve as the first Girls' State delegates. Alternates for this government session held at Indiana University were Nancy Kandalec, Judy Luttringer and Sue Sanders. Plans were made to choose Boys' State representatives.

Academic recognition went to three other students. Placing high in the regional division of the Indiana High School Achievement Tests were Sandra Leency, Marty Newcomb, first and fourth in comprehensive math; and Sue Ann Peavler, fourth in Spanish.

QUILL & SCROLL—Beth Hanneld, Linda Guber, Sue Sanders, Sherry Fyte, Lavonne Bebler, Bob Swearingen.

For Making Name

Outstanding journalists were initiated into the Quill & Scroll, first honorary society established at Gavit. Charter members were Lavonne Bebler, Sherry Fyte, Linda Guber, Beth Hanneld, Sue Sanders and Bob Swearingen.

Students also netted honors at the annual Calumet Region Science-Art Fair. A harmonograph designed by Alan Hochman and James Werner merited a second in its division, while Art Hayworth and Dale Wiersbe earned a third with their thermopile.

Jim Werner copped a first place in the sculpture-ceramics section. Jim Halla and Floyd McNutt got seconds, while Don Taylor received a fourth. Honorable mentions went to Charles Blue and Janice Hernandez.

Students taking the National Association of Teachers of German test were Mike Hanneld, Jerry Knoth, Marty Newcomb, Jim Roper and Sue Sanders.

High scorers on achievement tests are Marty Newcomb, Sue Ann Peavler, Sandra Leeney.

Pancake Breakfast Highlights PTA Activities In '63

Parents of Gavit students relive their own school days on PTA's Back to School Night.

March 10 marked the third annual Pancake Breakfast backed by the Parent Teacher Association of Gavit. This year the profits, which totaled over $3000, went toward giving financial aid to various school activities.

Back to School Night, the October PTA meeting, was a switch for parents, but no major catastrophe occurred as they trudged from room to room. Lost weary fathers and mothers were a common sight in the halls.

Also included in the program for one of the monthly meetings was a talk on the Lake County Juvenile Court, presented by Mr. Joseph Meszar, who is judge of the Juvenile Court.

To help raise money for band uniforms, the PTA sponsored a theater party at a nearby drive-in in October.

One of the meetings saw the annual talent show held in the cafeteria. After the business meeting Mr. W. Baxter, president, turned the show over to Jim Hall who acted as master of ceremonies for the remainder of the evening and introduced the performers. Dances, music and an original piano composition comprised the program.

Active in two programs presented by the PTA were students from the speech and debate department, and members of the dance band.

Making its debut, Gavit's Stage Band provides entertainment for a PTA meeting. They played "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" and other standards.

Mr. Bernie Krueger, Hammond High football coach, addresses GHS athletes at banquet.

Sports Banquet Honors Athletes

Saint Michael's Ukrainian Hall was the scene January 24 of Gavit's first all-sports banquet. The banquet honored athletes who had distinguished themselves in varsity and junior varsity athletic competition.

Mr. D. Denham, toastmaster for the evening, introduced Mr. B. Krueger, Hammond High football coach, Mr. N. Banas, Gavit's basketball coach, and Mr. G. Smith, Gavit football coach and athletic director. Then Mr. Smith and Mr. Banas introduced the honored guests for the evening, the junior varsity and varsity players of GHS.

Mr. Krueger told Gavit football players that they will be in a good position next season when all of the letter winners will return for their second year as varsity contenders.

Mr. Del Greco, class sponsor, and members of the sophomore class sell pennants at a game.

Dances, Games Diversify Routine

Dances and games provided a needed break from school routine.

GAA had its traditional first dance of the year in early fall.

Later, sophomore class had a Sadie Hawkins Day dance. Winning the titles of "Daisy Mae" and "Li'l Abner" were Nancy Pickett and Dave Denham, both sophomore nominees.

Junior class had a dance in the cafeteria for high schoolers. Since it was near Christmas, the dance had a suitable holiday motif.

Valentine's Day set the pace for the Y-Teens Sweetheart Dance in February with heart-shaped decorations.

Other dances during the year ranged from the formal prom in May to the sockhops after basketball games.

Mr. R. Andrews and Mr. R. George try for a rebound in the student-faculty game.

Students attended dances throughout the year. Several sock hops were held in the gym.

Enthusiasm reaches its peak as Gavit wins an overtime from Brook 57-54.

Before the game, starting line-ups for both the faculty and student teams stand at midcourt for the national anthem and school song.

Student-Teacher Clash Ends In Victory For Faculty

March 15 marked the second annual student-faculty basketball game. When the final gun sounded, the faculty had won, 49-44. The Ides of March clash, sponsored by the class of '64, was thus a repetition of last year's faculty win.

Lending enthusiasm to their team were the five faculty cheerleaders who were backed by the eleven-member teacher pep band. Assisting student cheerleaders were five varsity athletes.

Miss C. Quinn and Mr. J. Swanson lead yells to urge the faculty team to victory.

STUDENT CHEERLEADERS—"Bubbles" (Dave) French, Nils Salvesen, "Gypsy Rose" (Jim) Roper, "Cuddles" (Paul) Kozubal, "Snoopy" (Bob) Swearingen.

Musical Groups Give Programs

To promote their formal evening concerts both the chorus and band gave matinee performances. The choral department presented a spring concert and a robe benefit program. In May the junior high vocal department presented its first concert.

Drama club and the freshman class gave matinee performances of their plays for the junior high.

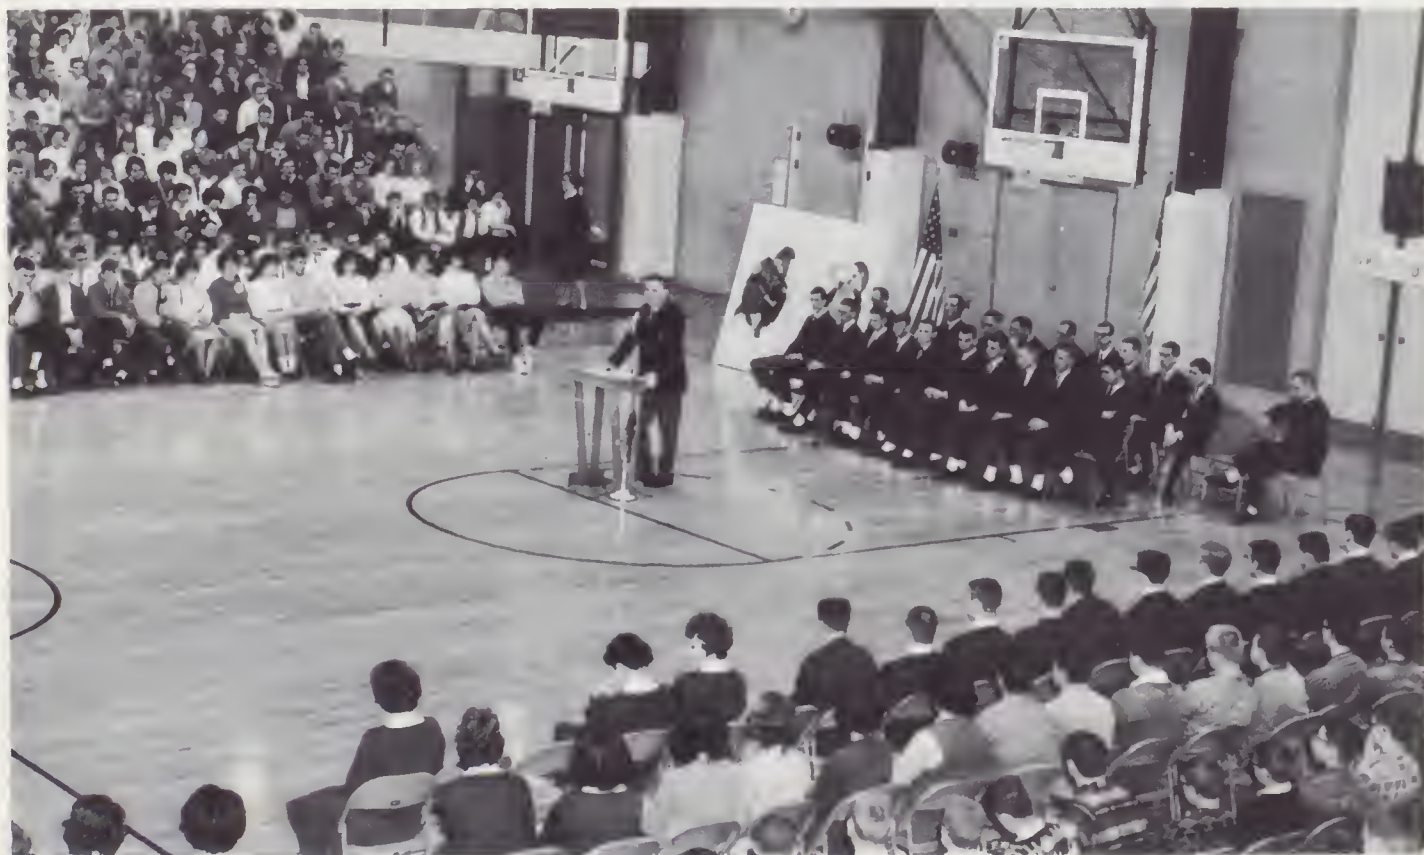

To send off the varsity Gladiators to their first sectional game, the student body raised the roof at the pep rally previous to their departure.

Other student assemblies which offered a change to the student life were the Pancake Breakfast sales program, the Student Council campaigning and the awards assembly.

Principal Witham and Mr. R. Knutson talk with Lt. Les Downing at the pancake assembly.

Before the team leaves for East Chicago, Coach Banas delivers words of encouragement to Gladiator roundballers and boosters.

Freshmen Present "Hillbilly Weddin'," First Play

Forty freshmen took part in the first GHS theatrical production April 18 and 19, when they presented "Hillbilly Weddin'" in the gym.

Main characters had double casts. Mrs. B. Johnson directed the play, assisted by freshman class sponsors Miss C. Feddeler and Mr. M. Hunt.

Plot involved the efforts of Paw Belsnickle to arrange weddings for his six daughters. Matters were complicated by a shootin' feud with their neighbors, the Upschlagers, a furor over rattlesnakes and the arrival of a young city fellow and his class-conscious aunt.

Chiz Upschlager (Arnie Lewin) prepares to hit Paw Belsnickle (Rich Ferguson) as Ceelie Belsnickle (Pat Matusik), his oldest daughter, keep him busy talking

Dozens of cousins, the clan, neighbors and visitors from the city gather for the wedding of Obeey Upschlager and Ceelie, oldest Belsnickle.

Carol Forsberg asks Lester Core to state his intentions concerning Gavit's first prom, sponsored by the junior class at the Sherwood Club May 17.

Glenn Swearingen, wearing a lapelless jacket, snap-tab shirt and thin tie, talks with Marty Newcomb, who is wearing a striped sweater.

Fads in shoes found during the year were colored corduroy sneakers, crew socks and tennis shoes, thin black socks and high boots, laced shoes, multi-colored patched shoes, t-strap shoes in various styles and colors and leather shell flats with a square vamp.

Fifty-Mile Hikes,

After school work, students turned eyes toward world events and fads.

In October President John Kennedy announced a quarantine of Cuba. Americans spent the year under the shadow of crises in Cuba, Laos and Berlin.

Fifty-mile hikes were the rage as young and old alike took to the roads.

Hit movies included "Lawrence of Arabia", "To Kill a Mockingbird", and "The Miracle Worker". Popular dances were the twist, bird and bossa nova.

Boys "nailed" (see page 79 for demonstration) each other, while girls made love chains of gum wrappers.

Pat Matusik, modeling a hooded jacket, and Jim Sherby help Letty Hicks look for her contact lense, which gained in popularity during the year. Letty is also wearing suspenders.

New Courses, Scheduling Method, Projects Added To

English teachers, under the direction of Mr. L. Wray, added new courses and various projects to the department curriculum. They also tried to schedule students according to ability.

Junior English courses, Composition V and American Literature VI, were two of the new additions. Students gained research experience by writing 1200 word term papers in comp classes.

Sophomore classes broadened their knowledge of literature by reading A Tale of Two Cities by Charles Dickens, Silas Marner by George Eliot and Shakespeare's Julius Caesar. A project completed by some of Miss C. Quinn's students was construction of a model of the Shakespearean Globe Theater.

Reviewing grammar was a major part of the freshman course of study. A general introduction to literature was also included. Various plays, such as "Pyramus and Thisbe" were also dramatized by some of these classes.

Teachers attempted to develop each student's abilities to their greatest extent by scheduling pupils according to their past English record. Plus, regular and minus classes were able to advance at their own rates.

Journalism was also added to the English curriculum as an elective course. Classes learned how to write various types of stories according to journalistic principles. The required weekly assignments were often published in the school newspaper, the Scroll.

Speech classes practiced constructing and delivering different kinds of speeches. After the most advanced type, the persuasive speech, had been mastered, students studied debate, discussion, parliamentary procedure and both humorous and dramatic interpretation.

Students Develop Artistic Interests

During the past year high school students furthered their artistic progress in Art Projects. In this course, students were able to work in a field of art which particularly interested them. These advanced students experimented with such mediums as water colors, oil paints and ink.

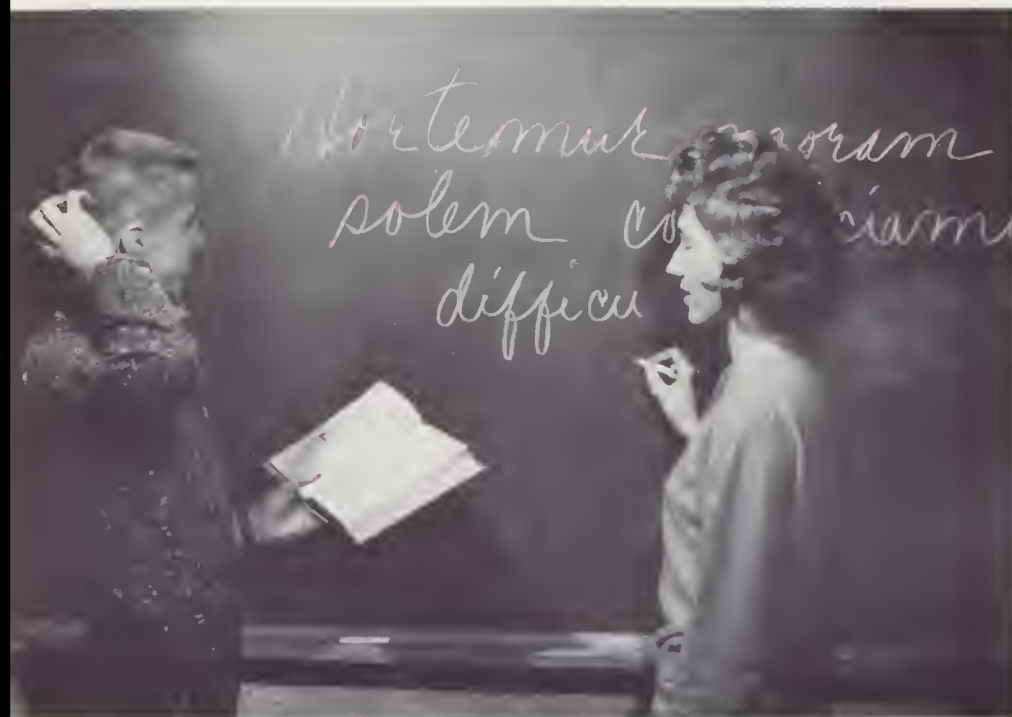

Junior high art classes worked with clay, planned and made toothpick designs, and learned the basic principles for cartooning and drawing.

French Is Newest Of Languages Offered At Gavit

David Rose and Katherine Korba puzzle over the intricacies of the Latin language.

When the language department added French to the curriculum, the total number of foreign languages offered at GHS reached four with German, Latin and Spanish.

Latin III and IV classes translated Caesar from the original Latin, while the beginning classes studied the basics of grammar.

Emil und die Detektive formed the focal point of study for the second years course in German, while, again, the first year classes studied the fundamentals of the language.

Spanish classes planned to translate episodes from Don Quixote after reading stories on customs of Spain.

In the first year in which French was offered at Gavit, the students translated from a series of four French legends, the first of which was entitled Sept d'un Coup. In addition, they made extensive studies of France, its customs, landmarks, history, peoples and cultures.

In addition to its literature and customs, Spanish students Nick Hether and Myrëta Ordway learn about the geography of Spain.

Business Department Supplements Curriculum With Introduction Of Equipment, Additional Courses

Besides adding new manual and electric typewriters, business department increased its curriculum with the introduction of new courses.

After they had learned the fundamentals, students who took shorthand worked with special dictation records designed to improve their shorthand speed and note-taking accuracy. When a student had successfully taken and transcribed the dictated material, she qualified for a Gregg certificate.

Transcription, another new business offering, also involved the knowledge of shorthand skills. The course was available to students who had completed the first semester of shorthand. The members of this class took notes either during shorthand or transcription class and then typed them. Miss J. Baker also instructed her students in some of the basic clerical skills.

To determine their typing speeds, students took timed writings. Miss F. Grunkemeyer instructed the classes in typing special projects like letters, orders, manuscripts and business forms.

Basic fundamentals of bookkeeping such as filing, making entries in their books and organizing figures were skills learned in bookkeeping class.

Business law, taught by Mr. J. Shields, was concerned with the proper ways to transact business matters and ways to cope with difficult business situations which might be encountered.

Business English and management were offered in conjunction with the general business program. These subjects taught business fundamentals.

Typing seemed to be the most popular of business courses since there were a total of four classes of it. Bookkeeping IV and General Business II both had two classes each.

Barbara Wielgos and Charlene Sylvester add their clippings to the business bulletin board

New to Gavit this year was the course in shorthand. Here junior Anne Rodovich prepares her assignment for the daily class.

Nancy Pickett, sophomore, begins her typing lesson. This year two courses in typing were offered to Gavit students.

Physics, Equipment Add To Science, Math Curricula

Bill Thegze works on putting a geometry problem on the board for Mr. M. Horoda's class.

New equipment and a new course served to brighten the science and math departments' 1963 school year.

Mr. L. Mann and Mr. R. Johns taught the University of Illinois Committee on Secondary Math (UICSM) course for its second year at Gavit. This four-year math course, a new approach to math, is designed to make the students reach math conclusions.

For the first time, Gavit offered physics, which was taught by Mr. J. Jeffries. Through their discussions, lab periods and experiments, the physics classes made studies in energy, mechanics, sound, light and heat.

Health and safety students received several new pieces of equipment, some of which were models of the organs, the human torso and the human skeleton. Each class also saw such movies as "Heart, Lungs, and Circulation".

In biology, students dissected worms, starfish, frogs and fish under the supervision of Mr. C. Smead, their instructor.

Juniors Doug Klein and Lester Core by using the pulley perform an experiment for physics class, a course instituted at GHS this year.

Roy Frye explains an aspect of eighth grade math to Dorothy Helfer and Brenda Allee.

Jack Lammertin and Elizabeth Yorkis study a model used in health and safety classes.

Lecturers, Movies, Records Enliven Social Studies

Speakers, movies and records added interest to the social studies department curriculum this school year.

American history classes increased their knowledge of America and her relation to the rest of the world when they heard Mr. R. Batchelor speak on the educational, economic and social facets of Samoa. He accompanied his lectures with slides of the island.

History VI classes had several speakers discuss unions and management. Mr. T. Swanson, a union representative, related the union's problems; Mr. D. Denham discussed those related to management; and personnel supervisor at American Steel Foundries, Inc., Mr. J. Sanders, spoke on procedures for setting various grievances.

Geography classes stressed the use of maps and slides to aid the students in their studies of foreign people, their cultures, customs and governments

Various Music Classes Develop Basic Choral Skills

Listening to a jazz record are Margaret Gardner, John Groesche and Rich Hochman.

Through the various music classes and choruses students developed basic music skills. Students studied voice, production of vocal sound, diction, enunciation and foreign languages from reading music of different lands.

Music curriculum aimed at a further development of vocal technique, a greater stress on vocal training and the study of choral music styles. Much attention had been given to interpretive ability. A wide variety of music was taught to the junior and senior high.

In the junior high the music department was divided into two years of work. The students practiced development of good singing habits and understanding the language of music.

Through music seventh and eighth grade students studied not only the culture of the United States but also that of other countries.

In May selected students from all the music classes joined with students from other schools to sing in the annual music festival held at the Hammond Civic Center.

Annual Gym Show, Spring Fashion

Preparing recipes in foods class are freshman Diane Griffin and sophomore Sharon Leonard.

Tom Hanna hands Judd Pease a chisel to be used on his project in the junior high wood shop.

Marilyn Zackiewicz, junior, uses the sewing machine on a blouse to employ skills she has learned in the high school sewing class.

Exhibition Result From Various Academic Projects

Mr. J. Levande supervises the new class in mechanical drawing.

Junior and senior high school physical education students concentrated mainly on skills of tumbling. Selected students performed in the Gymkhana, Gavir's annual gym show April 25. Some of the featured activities in the show were a trampoline exhibition, modern dancing and tumbling. Participating students set the majority of their acts to representative mood music.

High school girls took home economics as an elective, whereas junior high girls took it as a requirement. While the junior high cooking classes studied the preparation of breakfasts and lunches, the high school girls went on to more advanced work. The home economics department supervised a spring style show March 27. Mr. C. Holganse, a fashion commentator from a Gary department store, narrated the show, for which students modeled.

Jean Ferry, student assistant, demonstrates trampoline techniques for freshman girls.

Industrial Arts students explored the aspects of industry as an occupation. In the shop the junior high boys learned the common values of their tools and how to use them. Nineteen high school boys entered the new mechanical drawing class. They studied the "graphic language" used by draftsmen in all industries.

Freshman boys engage in various group calisthenics in preparation for their daily class.

Council Sets Up

Sarah Stowers watches as representative Pam VonAlmen inspects her locker during the Student Council check instituted this year

Establishing the Student Court was perhaps the main accomplishment of the Student Council. Representatives issued summonses and violators had to appear before the court. Student judges handed down decisions and penalties after hearing testimony of witnesses.

One program instituted in conjunction with the court was the systematic locker check, which was conducted by the homeroom representatives.

Student Council also organized a lost and found department through which books and other items lost by the students were returned by representatives to their owners.

At Christmastime, the Council collected canned goods for baskets which were given to needy area families.

Other activities which the Council sponsored included a sockhop after the Brook basketball game, an all-school dance, and the investigation of a National Honor Society chapter which they hope to institute next year.

Through Various Competitive Activities, Gavit's

Drama Club

Members of the Drama Club gave their first public performance when they presented a dramatic reading of Dicken's "A Christmas Carol" for the Christmas program. The club, sponsored by Miss C. Quinn and Mr. R. Unkuri, attended the play, "Dino," which was presented by the Gary Emerson High School in November. Play readings and after-school sessions were held to help prepare the members of the organization for participation in school plays in the future.

Debate

During the second semester of school, the debate team, sponsored by Mr. J. Swanson, entered debates in the Metropolitan Debate Union.

After attending the debate clinic at Purdue University in December, several students on the debate team entered varsity and sub-varsity debates. The debate topic was "Resolved that the United States should adopt a policy of reciprocal free trade with the non-Communist nations of the world." Practice sessions were held after school.

Forensics

Earning enough points to gain admission to the National Forensics League was the goal of the Forensics Club, sponsored by Miss C. Quinn and Mr. R. Unkuri. The fifteen members entered speech meets at Purdue University, Lafayette Jefferson High School, and Howe Military Academy and participated in the state sectional meet at Clark. Several of the members of the club received trophies for participating in the original oratory contest sponsored by the Rotary Club.

Mixed Chorus Dons New Robes For Concerts

Carole Etnire, Doug Jones and Bill Fields, members of the Mixed Chorus, try on their new purple and gold choral robes, which were received by the group in November.

Advanced music students participated in public performances, both in person and on radio, and in exchange concerts with area high schools, such as Morton. The high school mixed chorus proudly displayed their choir robes which they received in November. These purple and gold floor length collegiate robes were the first of this type in a high school.

Madrigal was an outgrowth of the mixed chorus. Each part, soprano, alto, tenor, and bass, was composed of four members. It was, according to Mr. Clark, "a highly selected group based on singing ability and a complete understanding of vocal techniques." The high school vocalists recalled the Renaissance with their age-old music and appropriate costumes, made and designed by the students themselves. In recognition of their ability, this group received a first, or superior, rating in the ensemble division of the Northern Indiana State Vocal Contest which was held at Gary Lew Wallace High School.

The choral department worked to develop musical talent and interest within the department and the school. It also strove toward the development of an a capella choir next year.

Practicing for a concert, the Mixed Chorus singers follow the direction of Mr. T. Clark.

Glee Clubs Train Vocalists For Mixed Chorus

Rhythmettes and Rhythmaires were selected groups which were chosen from the glee clubs because of special vocal abilities. The Rhythmettes and Rhythmaires won first places in the Northern Indiana Vocal Contest. In addition to regular school performances, they were available for outside public performances. They hoped to be able to participate in more vocal contests and in exchange concerts with other area high schools.

Directed by Mr. T. Clark, the girls' glee club was a beginning chorus which strove to develop good vocal techniques and the ability to sing in harmony. The chorus performed at the robe concert and assemblies.

Girls and boys who participated in the glee clubs, Rhythmettes and Rhythmaires gained experience and were prepared for the advanced vocal groups, the Madrigal and mixed chorus.

Junior High Choruses Sing In Two Concerts

Members of the junior high choruses participated in the Christmas program and the robe concert as well as in other assemblies and programs throughout the year. Experience gained by belonging to the choruses and by participating in these programs helped prepare these students for the high school groups, said Mr. T. Clark.

These groups were sponsored by the various music teachers: Miss E. Glick, Miss M. Stanger, and Mr. Clark. During the second semester, Miss Glick was in charge of two choirs: a small selected ensemble composed only of girls and a beginning girls' choir. Mr. Clark directed the Cadets, composed of those boys who needed to gain experience before they would be ready to join the boys' ensemble, which Mr. Clark also sponsored. The advanced junior high girls' chorus and the Musettes, a junior high girls' choir, were directed by Miss Stanger.

First Uniforms

To raise money to purchase their first uniforms, the band held a theater party in October at which two Fabian movies were featured. With the aid of the PTA, members sold bonds to help toward the purchase of these uniforms. Although not having uniforms last fall, the band marched for all home football games but one.

At state and district solo and ensemble contests, individuals in the band received recognition for their abilities. In March, band members won six first and four second place medals at the state solo contest. April 20 the band entered its last competitive event of the year, the state band contest.

May was the most eventful month of the year for Mr. W. Jonas and the band. May 30 the concert band marched for the Memorial Day parade. They also played in the city music festival at the Civic Center and presented their spring concert.

Students Handle All Editorial, Production Duties

In the publications office, room 219, Kathy Farley and Steffie Adamko work on an article which will appear in a future edition of the Scroll.

Scroll staff members performed all duties this year except actual mimeographing. These included assigning and collecting stories, editing, planning dummies, typing, headlining, stapling, and distributing.

In its second year of bi-weekly publication, the Scroll highlighted Christmas, sectional and prom issues. Four editors planned Gavitt's page in the Hammond Times in May.

Editors also attended conferences of the Indiana High School Press Association at Franklin College and National Scholastic Press Association in Chicago. All staff members attended the Northern Indiana Journalism Seminar at the Valparaiso University campus April 20.

Miss J. Richter, sponsor, spoke at the seminar and was on the steering committee, while some staff members helped at the seminar; all attended Journalism Day at Ball State.

Included in advancements this year were the increase from 8½ x 11 inch to 8½ x 13 inch paper and membership in the Indiana High School, National Scholastic and Columbia Scholastic press associations.

Yearbook Debut

Joining the ranks of student firsts for the school year was the Futura. This was its debut as a project of students who did all the work on it.

Readers will find new features such as three column layouts, unique in prep yearbooks; more than twice as many pages as '62; and increased size of these pages from $7\frac{3}{4} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$ to $8\frac{1}{2} \times 11$ inches. Other new features were student index, division pages, copy and informative picture captions.

Yearbook plans began last fall with selection of printer, type styles, number of pages, theme and cover design coming before actual production. The pace increased until June distribution when the book entered National Scholastic and Indiana High School press association yearbook rating contests.

Beth Hanneld, associate editor, Sue Sanders, editor-in-chief, and Miss J. Richter, faculty adviser, discuss several pictures which are to be used in the 1963 yearbook.

Student Assistants Help School Function Efficiently

Amidst the maze of lockers and doorways on third floor is monitor Lawrence Fricke.

Many students not only attended classes and social functions, but also performed several necessary tasks.

Under the direction of Miss D. Chase, secretary, students monitored the halls and checked daily attendance.

Library techniques and procedures were learned by those pupils helping Miss N. Johnson, school librarian.

Serving and washing dishes were daily procedure to the girls who worked in the cafeteria under that staff.

Mrs. M. Baker, school nurse, supervised girls who gained practical nursing experience by serving as aides.

Educational Clubs Encourage Student Interest

FTA

Valuable experience was gained by members of the Future Teachers of America when they helped Gavitt teachers with their classroom activities.

Members attended a regional round-up at Highland High the first semester, here they met area FTA members.

The club is chartered by the National Education Association and the Indiana State Teachers Association.

Math Club

Through individual projects, the members of the Junior High Math Club viewed the unusual aspects of mathematics and their practical applications. Some of these projects were displayed in one of the showcases.

The members also studied great mathematicians, such as Galileo and Pythagorus. Sponsor of the forty member organization was Mr. P. Andrews.

Science Club

This year the Senior High Science Club petitioned National Science Clubs of America for a charter. The club, sponsored by Mr. J. Jeffries and Mr. M. Horoda, entered projects in the annual Calumet Region Science Fair.

Junior High Science Club, consisting of twenty-seven members, also entered projects in the fair. Miss J. Pflum and Mr. R. Metz advise the club.

Three Clubs Stimulate Interests In Various Hobbies

Chess Club

Gavit's Chess Club, sponsored by Mr. R. George and Mr. R. Johns, participated in two meets this year, one home meet and one away. Both were conducted in conjunction with Dyer's Chess Club, which beat the Gavit teams in both of their challenge meets.

Members formed two divisions: the varsity, composed of the advanced players; and the beginners. To separate the better players into the varsity club, the Chess Club organized a tournament. The beginners worked to attain a varsity position while the advanced players fought to uphold theirs. Each member's standing throughout the year was determined by preliminary matches and additional matches played during the bi-weekly meetings.

Philatelic Club

Members of the new Philatelic Club studied and collected all types of stamps during this, the organization's first year of existence.

Philatelic Club members studied and collected many types of stamps, both rare and current. Mr. D. Stevens, the group's sponsor, planned to have a display case in which selected stamps would be displayed in the lobby. The budding stamp collectors gained knowledge of trading stamps and new collecting issues from the more experienced followers of this hobby.

Members subscribed to The Stamp News, a stamp collector's magazine. They also purchased Scott's Catalogue and circulated these journals among the members at the bi-weekly meetings.

United Nations Club

Junior high and first half freshmen wishing to learn about the culture and customs of foreign countries joined the United Nations' Club, sponsored by Miss S. Krashen. In their bi-weekly meetings the thirty-three club members viewed and discussed films and slides of the various land.

In the spring the club planned a party based on the customs of Peru. They dressed in costumes and observed some of the customs of that country. This was similar in nature to the Hawaiian luau which they held last year. In accordance with a South American custom, they planned to make a pinata. The traditional Mexican pinata was broken, usually at Christmastime, and the candy contents were distributed.

M.D. Speaks Of Medico To Future Nurses

Mrs. M. Baker, sponsor; and Linda Guber, president of the Future Nurses Club, talk with Dr. Stegman before his talk about his experiences in Saigon with Medico.

Highlight of the year for members of Future Nurses was a program presented by Dr. K. Stegman. More than 200 people came to hear his comments on the films he took in Asia while on duty with Medico, which was originated by Dr. Tom Dooley.

During the past year, the club had several other programs. Among them was a panel discussion given by four nurses from Gary Methodist Hospital. They spoke to the girls about the requirements for becoming good nurses and how nursing schools compared with colleges. They also passed out literature on nursing.

During the month of December, each club member brought in bars of soap which were donated to Beatty Memorial Hospital in Westville.

Members held a bake sale after the January PTA meeting to raise money for Medico. A film entitled "Future Nurses" narrated by Pat Boone highlighted the January club meeting.

Mrs. M. Baker, school nurse, sponsored the 41-member organization.

English Club Sponsors Christmas Semi-Formal

Books, books, and more books were the highlights of the year for the English Club, which sponsored a Book Fair in the school library last November. Preparations for the fair had been begun the previous May, under the direction of Peter Jasis, a club member. After all of that preparation, the club netted more than 200 dollars from the 2000 paperback books which it sold to Gavitt students, faculty, parents, and students from other schools.

December 20, club members sponsored a Christmas semi-formal which was held in the gaily decorated school lobby. The dance was open to all club members and their dates. Special attraction of the evening, in addition to the party food and punch bowl, was the five-piece band which provided the music, from waltz and polka to the latest crazes.

La Plume, the literary magazine which is written and edited by the club members, was published for the second year. In May, as it had last year, the group sponsored a car wash in the school parking lot. Second semester plans for the club also included a group trip.

Busy Calendar Carried Out By New Y-Teens

Y-Teens, sponsored by Mrs. B. Johnson, made its appearance on the GHS scene this year. Newness, however, was no hindrance as the 65 girls planned and carried out a busy calendar of activities.

Y-Teens planned several all-school activities for the spring semester. They sponsored a Sweetheart Turnabout

Dance in the cafeteria for Valentine's Day. Later, they organized a loyalty day for sectionals, a dress-up day, and a dress-down day.

They also planned to correspond with students from France and other countries which take part in Y-Teens programs. In this way they were able to trade thoughts and ideas as well as plans with Y-Teens throughout the country and the world.

Also instituted by the Y-Teens was the "little sister" program. Each member had a 7B "little sister" to help with any questions which she might have in connection with Gavit. Other problems discussed concerned make-up, hair care and clothing.

Red Cross Members Strive To Be Of Service

Gavit's chapter of the American Junior Red Cross performed several service projects during this past year. The club engaged in two charitable projects during the Christmas holiday season. They bought, filled and distributed Christmas baskets to needy families, and they raised money to purchase two Christmas gifts which they gave to the city-wide council to be distributed to the underprivileged children in Hammond.

In addition to the service projects, Red Cross collected Pepsi bottle caps during the first semester. Proceeds from this drive were used to augment the club's treasury. The Junior Red Cross, which consisted of 45 home-room representatives and 45 alternates, planned to sponsor two dances: one for the junior high students, and the other for the high school students.

Gavit GAA Schedules Activity Program For '62-'63

Cathy Hotaling and Andi Stevenson lower basket in preparation for GAA basketball game.

Members of the Girls' Athletic Association, one of the few clubs in existence for three years, maintained the tradition established in previous years by sponsoring the first dance of the school year in September.

At the beginning of the year, the group selected six activities in which they participated during the year. The sports chosen were volleyball, swimming, basketball, bowling, ping-pong, badminton and trampoline. They also planned the group trips to be taken.

Bowling sessions were held at nearby lanes, while members went to the Hammond Civic Center to swim.

In the spring the GAA took a trip to the Dunes State Park. Such sports as softball and kickball were played.

Four of the girls received awards for their participation, which were presented by the club sponsors Miss J. Armintrout and Miss M. Kelly.

GAA also planned to sponsor a sports night with the Lettermen's Club in May. The groups would compete in various sports and activities.

Members planned to end their year by challenging women faculty members to a game of volleyball.

National Safety Group Charters Hallway Patrol

Chuck Dixon, Mike Kohut, Skip Knutson and John Fornari discuss various posters which will be used in the lobby display case maintained during the year by the Hallway Patrol.

Affiliated with Hammond Youth Safety Council, the Hallway Patrol, sponsored by Mr. N. Banas and Mr. P. Brush, received a charter from the National Student Safety Association.

Promoting safety on streets, in classes and halls was the group's goal.

Vehicles driven by students and faculty were checked at school by the police through the efforts of the club. The Hammond Youth Council sponsored a contest between the city schools to stimulate check interest.

Movies of the Indianapolis "500" were shown by Fred Agabashian, a former race car driver, at a fall assembly. In the spring a panel of Youth Council members representing all city schools conducted an assembly promoting safety and the vehicle check.

First Lettermen Work At Home Basketball Games

Lettermen Larry Ray, Nils Salvesen, Dan Dec and Doug Jones work in concession stand.

Major lettermen worked at all home basketball games under the supervision of Mr. R. Gilbertsen, financial manager. They sold and checked tickets, worked in the concession stand and kept order in the halls during games.

To help purchase equipment for the athletic teams, the organizations sponsored money-making projects of its own. One of the projects set up on a permanent basis, the Varsity Shop, sold school sweat shirts, emblem and jackets. Lettermen also sponsored a sockhop after the Lowell basketball game, the last game of the season.

Mr. G. Smith, varsity football coach, Mr. E. Thompson, varsity track coach, and Mr. N. Banas, varsity basketball coach, sponsored this club, which consisted of 28 major lettermen. Charter members were athletes who won letters in football. Later in the year, basketball and track lettermen were voted into the club.

Various Groups Boost School Spirit At Games

School spirit was boosted this year at football and basketball games by the veteran Pep Club, the Junior High Pep Club, and a new group, the Pom-pom girls. At various home games the pep clubs were to be seen and heard promoting crowd spirit in their purple and gold pinnies. They also used cards for cheering.

Just as this was the first year that Gavitt experienced varsity competition, the Pom-pom girls and the four majorettes gave their first performances at the home football games. Although the Pom-pom group was composed of just six girls at the beginning of the year, the membership climbed to 24, sponsored by Miss J. Pflum. The larger group was renamed the Pom-mettes, and they gave their first performance, which was the "March of the Wooden Soldiers" at the instrumental winter concert.

Mascot Pam Ferguson, majorette Sally Kudelka, and drum majorette Maria Maruschak lead the band, Pom-pom girls and majorettes at a football halftime performance.

First Year GHS Gridmen Gain Area Recognition, Finish 2-6-1

Gavit's grid squad gained area recognition by compiling a first year varsity record of two wins, six losses and one tie. It is encouraging to note the losses to Calumet, Highland and Clark were by one touchdown each.

First varsity win was a 24-6 rout of Rensselaer Sept. 22 at Hammond High field. The team had shown marked improvement in its previous outings and the boys were eager for victory. They were sharp on both offense and defense as they controlled the game from the beginning. Marty Newcomb garnered the first six points as he scampered 61 yards with a Bomber fumble.

Next score came when Bob Swearingen tallied on a 19-yard run. Bob Haack's aerials to each of the Milobar twins rounded out the scoring. Final scoreboard tally showed the first pigskin victory for GHS on the varsity level.

One week later, Sept. 29, the Gladiators tied Gary Andrean. At halftime the score was 26-13 with Andrean on top. In the second half, however, Gavit's defense held the 59ers scoreless, while GHS offense came through for two more touchdowns and another extra point. Final score was 26-26.

Squad Spoils Homecoming

Highlighting the season was the spoiling of Dyer's homecoming Oct. 12. The stands were packed as the team charged onto the field to face the Indians. The hard fought first half was scoreless. Two Dyer marches ended within the Gavit five-yard line as the Gladiator linemen, led by Ted Walsh, stopped the ball carriers cold.

In the second half, Dyer gained a net total of two yards rushing. Late in the game fullback Adeo Nicolai plunged over from the one-yard line to supply the only score as GHS won 6-0 that fall evening.

Highland Sees Early Scores

Gridders surprised the Highland Trojans Oct. 2 when Haack scored on the fifth play of the game. Marty Newcomb added six points. The extra point counted, but the Trojans captured the win 21-13, although the Gladiators had two touchdowns called back.

Playing their first varsity foe from Hammond, the squad lost to Clark Oct. 26. Only score of the game came when a Pioneer sneaked across in the first quarter. Final score was 7-0.

Game pressures show in Coach Brush's face as he gives instructions to tackle Paul Kozubal.

Matmen Tally 3 Wins

Wrestling was initiated this year with a schedule of 11 B team meets undertaken by the Gavit squad. With each meet came more experience so that matmen were able to win three meets and tie one, while losing seven.

Relished as a victory for the grapplers was a 33-23 defeat of Hammond High before a home crowd Dec. 11. The season wound up with Gavit entering the varsity wrestling sectionals where matmen garnered a team total of 10 points, although no one tallied an individual win.

Gavit Five Completes First Varsity Competition

Triple teamed Dave Rose attempts jump shot while Bob Haack gets set for possible rebound.

Gavit opened its first varsity basketball campaign with five straight defeats before garnering the first victory of the season as Brook fell 57-54 in a double overtime Dec. 21.

Roundballers then hit a frigid spell during which they dropped the next twelve games. Washington Township provided the answer Feb. 15 as the GHS team captured their second win 53-50 and ended the long drought.

Regular season closed Feb. 22 with a loss to the Lowell Red Devils. Although finishing 2-17, Coach N. Banas' crew had begun to show improvement over earlier performances.

Playing Highland in the opening game of the first session, Feb. 27, Gavit participated in its first sectional. When the final buzzer rang, G-men were on the short end of a 55-45 tally. Bullseye free throw shooting kept Gladiator hopes alive, for 31 of 41 charity tosses hit their mark.

Surrounded by Brook players, George Clarke lays up a two-pointer.

After dropping the first three games of the season, b-teams won consecutive decisions from Boone Grove, Gary Andrean, and Brook. While participating in the b-team tournament, the Gladiators dropped two straight to Morton and Hammond High by respective scores of 46-38 and 44-33.

Momentum picked up and Gavit was on the long end of the next three over Morgan Twp., 50-38, T.F. North, 37-28, and Chesterton, 44-34. GHS split the next four, beating River Forest and Clark, while losing to Highland and Calumet. Portage became the next victim in an overtime contest 36-35. Noll then handed Coach T. Chintis' crew a 40-35 defeat for their sixth and last loss of the regular season. Season closed with victories over Wahington Twp., 49-32, and Lowell, 43-35.

Freshman team compiled a season record of 11 wins and 5 defeats. Highlighting the season was the Gary Andrean tournament where the plebes recorded victories over River Forest, 42-36, and Gary Andrean, 36-22, to capture the first place trophy. January 30-31 they placed third in a field of six in the Gavit frosh tourney.

Forty-Seven Thinclads Start Track, Field Program

Gavit cindermen numbered forty-seven strong as track was added to the growing list of GHS sports.

Having only six juniors on the team weakened the varsity, but the freshman-sophomore future was bright and several qualified for the sectionals.

Season opened with a dual meet at Hammond Clark where the varsity took a 96-13 beating. Frosh-soph, however, finished strong for a 71½-37½ win. Bishop Noll then became the next frosh-soph victim 67-41 at Noll field.

Banas Fields Squad Aiming Toward Varsity Status

Workers set up a baseball diamond on Gavit's field in hopes of having it ready for spring games.

Gavit baseballers, under direction of Coach N. Banas, had taken the initial steps toward the formation of a varsity diamond crew. This season's team had representative of all high school classes with the sophomores having 15 on the 29 member squad.

Season schedule included a combination of seven varsity and b-team contests. Three games were played at varsity level against Hammond Clark, Hammond Tech and Noll, while other four b-team contests with Hammond High, Calumet and T.F. South.

Next season the baseball team will play in regular varsity competition.

Three wins, one tie and one loss added up to a second place finish in the city junior high football race.

Seventh graders ended their roundball season in a tie for first place with Harding. In the city tourney, however, young Gladiators lost in the final game to the Harding squad.

Eighth grade roundballers finished their last grade school athletic year with three wins and six losses.

Trackmen entered the annual city junior high meet which took place at the Hammond High field May 13.

Row 2: Mr. Oliver Rapp, assistant superintendent; Mr. Charles Bomberger, attorney; Mr. Herbert Thorsen, assistant superintendent; Mr. Donald Gavit, business manager; Mr. R. B. Miller, superintendent.

Year Commences

When Gavit's 1500-plus students swarmed through the doors on opening day, Sept. 11, a teaching staff of 66 was on hand to greet them. Others who played parts in the reception were staffs of cafeteria, office and custodial workers, to say nothing of the administration and school board.

For one administrator, Mr. R. B. Miller, the date itself was significant, for it marked his last year as superintendent of Hammond Schools. This summer, after more than 30 years of service, he will retire.

PRINCIPAL LEADS THIRD YEAR

Principal Lewis F. Witham saw his third year as Gavit's helmsman. He perhaps viewed the year as one of fewer new school growing pains, a year when great strides were made toward next's year full-fledged high school with its senior class.

Keen interest in and devotion to his work are hallmarks of his role in the school's development. His actions typify his favorite saying, "We must do things the Gavit way." Translated this means "First class all the way."

SERVICE TASKS TAKE STAFFS

Among the tasks needed for smooth running of a school are those of handling discipline and arranging classes.

Subject of discipline came into the department of Mr. Ernest Hurt, who also had duties of coaching junior high football, basketball and track.

High school students received help with planning their schedules from counselors Miss Betty Lundahl and Mr. Homer Meredith, while junior high students went to Mr. Edward Ignas for his services in counseling.

Other teaching helps, those of a more visual nature, were the items provided by Mr. Harvey Zaun, coordinator of audio-visual aids and boys, and teacher of world history.

FIVE DIRECT MUSICIANS

Responsible for the musical sounds wafting through the halls at various times were the following: Mr. Thomas Clark, high school vocal director; Miss Elizabeth Glick, junior high music classes, girls ensembles; Mr. Louis Gregory, string teacher, orchestra director; Mr. Willard Jonas, band director; and Miss Marilyn Stanger, junior high general music classes.

Mrs. Beulah Seckinger and Mr. Reginald Gilbertsen were the teachers who guided student artistic efforts, Mrs. Seckinger in the junior high and Mr. Gilbertsen for the high school.

Sounds of foreign languages were produced by Latin students of Miss Margaret Fitzgerald, French students of Mrs. Janet Sachs, Spanish students of Mr. Robert Rich and German students of Mr. Martin Hunt. In addition, Miss Fitzgerald and Mrs. Sachs taught English, while Mr. Hunt taught math and was freshman class co-sponsor.

TEACHERS SPONSOR ACTIVITIES

Joining Mr. Hunt as a frosh class sponsor was Miss Caryle Feddler, who taught eighth grade math and advised Pep Club. Her colleagues teaching junior high math were Mr. Richard Andrews, math club sponsor; Mrs. Mary Mulcahey; Mrs. Mary Ann Sadenwater; and Mr. Delbert Stevens, who also was a co-sponsor of the Philatelic Club for stamp collecting.

Junior class' other sponsor was Mrs. Angela Penny, junior high English teacher. Sharing the load of the first two years of English curriculum were Miss Susan Krashen, United Nations Club sponsor; Miss Ann Curry; Mrs. (Continued on page 90)

Specialized high school English teachers were journalism Miss Judy Richter, publications, Quill and Scroll advisor; and speech Mr. Roland Unkuri, Drama, Forensics Clubs adviser.

Also concerned with a speech activity was Debate Club sponsor Mr. John Swanson, who, along with Mr. Tom Chintis, taught high school history. Mr. Chintis coached freshman football, and b team basketball. Rounding out the staff of high school social studies instructors were Mr. Robert George, Chess Club sponsor; and Mr. Donald McLean, geography teacher.

CLASSES SERVE INTERESTS

Social studies in the junior high were taught by Miss Helen Bunker, Miss Diane Clinton, Mr. Breck Marion, Mr. Lawrence Bewley and Mr. Ronnie Whitcombe, Student Council adviser.

FIVE JOIN STAFF IN JANUARY

Girls who took physical education had Miss Margaret Kelly in junior high and Miss Joanne Armintrout, GAA, cheerleader, tumbling sponsor; for senior high. Male counterparts were Mr. Wayne Wagner, junior high football, basketball, track coach; and Mr. George Smith, athletic director, varsity football and wrestling coach.

Five additions to the teaching staff at the second semester were Mrs. Ruth Baker, high school English; Mr. Joseph Goodnight, world history; Miss Florence Grunkemeyer, business; Miss Carol Hemmerlein, junior high social studies; and Miss Sara Newport, math.

Thus ended the year with 71 teachers for more than 1700 students.

CAFETERIA STAFF—Estelle Hart, Faye Swiontek, Bessie Bundy, Margaret Morris, Della McNamara, Antoinette Lukafka, Mildred Klein, Ann Johnson.

These are the editors. Color them exhausted. Also color them grateful to the following:

Whether you realize it or not, working on this year-book included . . . losing copy blocks, layouts and pictures . . . trying frantically to round up kids for pictures . . . sharing one grease pencil . . . cleaning up the office so that we could leave . . . whistling while we worked . . . Linda Guber breaking a bottle of glue . . . Carol Williams running for hamburgers as dinner for the night-owls . . . skipping classes . . . trying to explain "gotcha" . . . leaving pencils and pens in the publications room . . . Miss Richter putting up with us the last week . . . blaming Beth for everything . . . sighing with relief when it was all over . . . bursting with pride when the first student Futura was distributed.
